After trying multiple hairloss treatments I decided to go for micro hair pigmentation at Prohairclinic in Heist op den Berg (Belgium) and want to share my experience.

Day 1:

We had an appointment scheduled from 10:00 to 15:00.

The first hour I was explained what's going to happen and how it would work. I also got a painkiller to soften pain during treatment, although I don't think it was necessary for me because I have a high pain tolerance

After the explanation we started the procedure. It took several hours to fill my head with dots.

Thereafter, we started to work on the base of my hairline.

The hairline itself was drawn by another person because she had more experience in this area.

I was a little worried at first because I didn't want the hairline to be too round. But this would be clarified further on the next day.

Although it is not very clear on this picture, my scalp was a little red and shiny.

Day 2:

In the morning my scalp looked a lot better. The redness was gone and the dots looked a bit more natural.

Today she increased the density of the pigments and we developed my hairline in more detail.

I asked to make the hairline a bit thinner in front, so it looks more natural and not too perfect.

I was told I had a fairly easy skin type, so we already finished at 12:30 (started at 10:00).

Information:

Hygiene

The procedure was very hygienic. The rooms were cleaned spotless from top to bottom daily.

Food

You get a menu with several choices. This menu contains both hot and cold dishes. The food is very tasty and was included in the price.

Parking

Easily accessible.

Before treatment

Sufficient explanation was given and you get the opportunity to ask as many questions as you want. Before the treatment you get a Dafalgan and burofen painkiller.

During treatment

During treatment, you receive several drinks and an iPad with Netflix. One drawback is that it is difficult to see because the light reflects on the iPad. But on the other hand I prefer there is sufficient light to execute the pigmentation

After treatment

I received a brochure with do's and don'ts. For example, I should not sweat for seven days and put a serum on my head twice a day.

Decision (2 days after treatment):

I'm very satisfied with the result. I have no regret and would make the same decision to do it again.

Within one month following, there will be a third treatment where extra density will be ensured and I can modify my hairline if I want.

Hello,

This week I went back to Prohairclinic to add more density. I also asked to bring my hairline a little bit more up to the front.

In 3 months I will plan another "touch-up" session.

Here are the results for this week's treatment:
